

Miami Herald

Hot stuff celebrities love

SHOP

Lauren Conrad is buddying up to her Minnie Me again. The reality star turned designer is launching a second capsule collection dedicated to beloved cartoon character Minnie Mouse at Kohl's Friday (think lots of polka dots). "She's sweet, fun and loves anything girly," Conrad tells UsWeekly of Mickey's better half. "What's not to love?"

TRY

Channel Gwyneth Paltrow's au naturel glamour with the actress' new cosmetics line with Juice Beauty. Her Phyto-Pigment Color collection includes 78 face, eye and lip products made with good stuff like berries, flowers, fruits and vegetables. Only the best for the Goop founder. $20-$48, Ulta; www.juicebeauty.com

CLICK

How are those New Year's Resolutions working out for ya? Maybe purchasing a cute outfit will help make those trips to the gym a little more bearable. Look to the stars: Model and workout enthusiast Nina Agdal lately has been seen in little else besides quick-drying stretch leggings and breathable tanks by VIMMIA. Guys, the fitness meets fashion brand is unisex. vimmia.com